Happy Valentine's Day

When I was a child, the teacher told us to bring a shoe box to school. We decorated the box with Valentine hearts. The teacher gave us a list of the students and the teacher. This is so everyone got a Valentine. If she hadn't give us the list, some people would not have gotten a Valentine. The teacher made sure everyone felt loved. God loves us and we are to love others. 1st John 4:9 says, "This is how God showed His love among us: He sent His one and only Son into the world that we might live through Him."

Thinks of some ways you can show the love of God to others. Then show them God's love. We all want to be loved like the teacher suggested.

See you at Church
 Sunday!
 Pastor Eddie

Freedom, Hallelujah Freedom! Free to love my God that is so infinitely more than my mind can ever imagine. Free to know I'm saved, and that I have been sealed for eternity with the love of my Savior. Free to abandon my life into the trusting hands of God. Free to love those that will never love me back. Free to cast my cares upon the shoulders who can carry the load without faltering. Free to know my sins of the past are forgotten and forgiven. Free to truly live; to live with a purpose and a power that is only possible with the work of the Holy Spirit. Yet all this freedom is not mine to waste, and not mine to use as I see fit. My freedom came at a great cost. The cup of wrath I deserved was poured upon the head of my loving Savior. In that I am, free, but I have given that freedom willingly to serve and give back of the love that was given me. I can't image the overwhelming weight of the knowledge that was upon Jesus as He knew of the power of God's wrath, just to help us a bit we can search the pages of Deuteronomy and Revelation, in those vivid images we see the great freedom we truly have in Christ. Humbling is a word that seems too innocent for what the true picture is of the greatness performed on our behalf, let's not waste this great gift! Let us run this race, and let us be poured out like a drink offering daily to see the Kingdom of God advanced.

Yes, it will be hard at times to be poured out, yet we can see the greatness of horror we have been freed from as we look unto the broken body of our great Lord Jesus, jason
